1. REDUCE YOUR OPERATING COSTS

The single most important tactical reason for outsourcing your 3D work is to reduce and control operating costs.

It is a specialist skill and unless your resource is fully utilised it could be costing you dearly. Under T2's Client Retainer Agreement, we can provide expert visualisation services at reduced cost. By outsourcing you are also removing the problems and costs associated with finding good quality staff; maintaining complex software and processes; investment in employee personal development training programmes; expensive hardware and processor costs; and other associated overhead costs such as office space.

Outsourcing reduces all of these outlays, and introduces a whole new range of benefits.

2. SHARE THE RISK

There is always a risk associated with the investments an organisation makes. When you outsource your 3D work you become more flexible, more dynamic and better able to change to meet the changing opportunities.

Technology changes extremely quickly; we have constantly to be informed and trained on using new and emerging technologies to stay ahead of the game. Keeping up with these changes, especially with each next generation, requires a significant investment in resources. T2 makes the investment not on behalf of just one company, but on behalf of our many clients. By sharing these investments, the risks born by a single company are significantly reduced.

3. FOCUS ON YOUR CORE SKILLS

Outsourcing allows you to redirect your attention from non-core technology driven activities and re-focus on those areas of the business that will generate the greater return in serving your clients.

4. FOCUS ON YOUR BUSINESS

Outsourcing lets you focus on your core services delivery model while having us focus on your CGI work.

It can release you to accelerate your growth and success through expanded investment in the areas which offer the greatest competitive advantage.

5. ACCESS TO PROFESSIONAL EXPERTISE

It is important to select a third party service provider who is a trusted and experienced strategic partner.

T2 has a proven track record for delivering services against seemingly impossible deadlines, and we will always push the boundaries of innovation to think outside the box and challenge the status quo to deliver great results.

Our success is founded on trust and teamwork, providing exceptional customer service, value and quality. Our capabilities include industry expertise gained through working with many clients facing similar challenges.

You can also take advantage of new technologies, tools and techniques that you many not currently possess. For example, we offer auditable and verifiable CGI in support of the visual assessment analysis process for planning applications.

Whether you need access to full time support (everyday of the week if you need it) or ad hoc to meet the peaks and troughs of demand, T2 will work hand in hand to meet your needs. We also give you emergency mobile contacts, so even those out of office emergencies can be dealt with swiftly.

Underpinning our creative team we also have strong IT technology specialists and Autodesk approved trainers and consultants.

Our no compromise policy on quality and delivery has earned us many satisfied clients who continue to support us and are happy to provide references.
